THE AFFECTING OF NET INCOME, OPERATING CASH FLOW, AND LEVERAGE IN KOMPAS 100 COMPANY WHICH REGISTERED IN INDONESIA STOCK EXCHANGE

BY:

MULIA TRIYANI
43208120048

ABSTRACT

This research aims to obtain empirical evidence about whether or not of net income effect, operating cash flow, and leverage to the devidend payout ratio on Kompas company which registered on Indonesia Stock Exchange in 2009 to 2011. The sample technic conducted by purposive sampling method. The research literature conducted by studying journals and some theory that related to the topic research which contained in the library and the other informations from websites www.idx.co.id.

This research conducted by using SPSS (Statistical Program 'For Social Science) version 17.00. The statistical method used to examine the hypothesis is multiple regression models. Before doing some hypotheses examination, it conducted to examine the data quality, classical assumptions and hypotheses. The results showed that net income, operating cash flow, and leverage are affecting the devidend payout ratio. Individually the net income and operating cash flow does not affect the dividend payout ratio, while the leverage are affecting the devidend payout ratio.

Keyword: net income, operating cash flow, leverage, devidend payout ratio.