

ABSTRACT

As the website world and it's application continue to expand, website as a representation of a personal entry, institution and company image will hold a crucial factor in an information spread. In that case, website programming and it's visual design hold a key to successful website.

The rule in website design are not for different from those of graphic design. The essential elements, such as typography, illustration, symbolism, and phothography, act as the key design in producing the web sites.

Keyword : web-site, graphic design

