ABSTRACT

Each designer will inevitably to have an online portfolio. Because it is a very basic requirement for designer to promote yourself. Although it is only a single web page. Because the online portfolio is a tool that a designer can be known by potential clients, and promote yourself, however it is more important to promote yourself before you promote others.

The online portfolio even static or dynamic form needs to have interactive. At the current trend is to use interactivity as effectively as possible in order to reach prospective clients.