

ABSTRACT

In this life of every living creature needed a place to stay. Living things are the natural hosts a gathering of a group commonly called habitat. Habitat is a living creature on land and at sea. Humans, some animals, some existing plants that live on land. For living beings dwelling useful for breeding, feeding, shelter from natural enemies and weather changes. And one example for people in need of home or residential. Which is where the house is Functioning provide comfort in a wide range of activity, as beristirahat place, as a place to gather with family and shows the level of society. (Anwar, 1996; Mukono, 2000). Housing is a major requirement, along with public health. Therefore, a fundamental provision of the housing complex and the availability of housing standards. Habitable housing must meet health requirements so that occupants remain healthy. Healthy housing should facilitate the availability of infrastructure and related facilities, such as water supply, sanitation, waste disposal, transportation, and the availability of social services (Krieger and Higgins, 2002)

