

ABSTRACT

Name : Fathurrahman Dali
Student Number : 41516310036
Counsellor : Sri Dianing, ST, M.Kom
Title : *Security System Network Using Cisco AnyConnect
With a Method of Network Access Manager*

On the current developments in the field of information technology and growing rapidly, this is evidenced by the growing number of communities who use the internet service. Along with the development of the internet in such a rapidly, making the security of the data or information on a server that is connected with the public becomes very important. Many companies that have computer networks where the network serves to connect the existing computers in the Office. The existence of a network of computers not only simplify employee performance but can also bring up the problem especially in terms of the security of the computer network itself. Computer network security threats that could harm one of them located on the internal network of PT Lintasarta. Research methods used in this research is the research action or action research. The results of this research is the use of a network security system using a Cisco network access method with ISE manager were able to help to implement the standardized IT Policy PT Lintasarta.

Key words:

Network Security System, a Network of Internet, IT Policy, System Authentication Permission Access

UNIVERSITAS
MERCU BUANA