

ABSTRACT

The development of railway stations in this modern era is no longer as the site down rising expectation among passengers and rail transit systems with other transit system in a city. But as the development of the era, the station was present as a place that connects a wide range of public facilities, ranging from residential facilities, transportation facilities, offices, facilities and entertainment venues as well as connect with other transportation modes. As a transit point, making the train station very strategically and economically, many communities, among others, the Manager of the station, passenger trains, merchant or anyone using the station as a place to start its activity. The train station is also one of the areas of business that is engaged in the provision of ground transportation services. A large number of transportation service providers encourage railway station officials to improve the quality of service. Service quality and condition the existing facilities at the railway station. The train station of expect has a relationship or are connected with a number of existing public facilities were, among others, Placing commercial, residential, offices, and public social facilities within walking distance of station, Create a friendly network of roads for pedestrians that connects various destinations travel locally, Provide settlements with the type, density and the costs vary.

Keyword : passengers, rail transit systems, transportation